The British Medical Association (BMA)

People working in medicine spend their lives and careers helping others but are sometimes in need of assistance themselves. The BMA is a trade union with a collective voice of doctors and medical students which is also led and managed by members. Being a member of the association means that you will have free access to many resources like:

- Latest news from the BMA

Following the announcement of this year's resident doctor pay award, the BMA has issued a letter as part of ongoing discussions with the government in regard to the ballot. Read the letter in full here. (<https://leademployer.merseywestlancs.nhs.uk/media/Downloads/BMA%20letter%20to%20resident%20doctors%20-%202030.05.25.pdf>) For more information or to keep up to date with the latest news from the BMA, please visit: BMA - Home | British Medical Association (<https://www.bma.org.uk/>)

- Employment and career advice

The BMA's team of specialist employment advisers can help with any query about your working life including pay and working hours.

- Legal Advice

The BMA works with a law firm that specialises in immigration to provide legal advice relevant to International doctors and medical students.

- Learning and Development Resources

As a member you will have access to several webinars and E-learning modules. They can also support on your exams to show you what you can expect and offer guidance on how to get a clinical attachment.

- Wellbeing Support Services

The BMA have support services that doctors and medical students can confidentially contact, free of charge. You can call their helpline or have the choice to speak to a counsellor.

- Contract Checking Services

The BMA offer a "contract checking" service. Whether you are starting a new job or changing roles, the BMA recommend you have your contract checked to ensure it is fair.
